

Systems are normally supplied with a standard test instrument, the illustrated model having an Olympus NDT Epoch 4Plus flaw detector. The flaw detector supplies gated signal data to the system software for c-scan creation.

Options are available for a variety of flaw detectors ranging from basic instruments through to high-speed phased-array instruments.

